Professional Summary

Investigative journalist and researcher specialized in documenting international human rights violations, and a defender of fundamental rights and freedoms for more than twenty years. He has extensive experience in investigative journalism, analysis of political and legal issues, and documentation of human rights violations in various regions of the world, particularly in the Middle East and Latin America.

Active in the field of combating organized crime, transnational crime, and drug trafficking networks through investigative journalism and analytical research focusing on uncovering illegal networks and their impact on societies, the rule of law, and human rights. He also contributes to preparing analytical reports and investigations addressing violent extremism, corruption, and international crime, with emphasis on legal dimensions and accountability mechanisms under international law.

Founder and President of the International Observatory for the Documentation of Human Rights Violations (IOV / OIDVDH), and supervises media and human rights initiatives aimed at promoting transparency, accountability, and the defense of victims. He also manages several multilingual digital media platforms dedicated to political analysis, investigative journalism, and coverage of international affairs.

A continuous writer and publisher in numerous international news and media platforms in Arabic, Spanish, and English, focusing in his articles and investigations on geopolitical issues, human rights, organized crime, and international legal challenges.

His work combines investigative journalism, legal analysis, and human rights research, producing in-depth investigations and reports that shed light on violations and contemporary human rights challenges, contributing to strengthening justice, accountability, and respect for human rights at the international level.
